Executive summary

In 2012 the Secretary of State for Health asked Kate Lampard Q.C. to provide independent oversight of the investigations at three NHS hospitals and the Department of Health into the associations that the late Sir Jimmy Savile had with those hospitals and the Department, and allegations that Savile committed sexual abuses on the hospitals' premises. The Secretary of State also asked for a report to identify the themes that emerged from the investigations and to look at NHS-wide procedures in light of the investigations' findings and recommendations. Subsequently, the report was asked to incorporate the outcome of internal investigations into further allegations of abuse by Savile at various other NHS hospital sites.

Following the publication of Kate Lampard's report in February 2015, Trusts were asked to consider the recommendations contained in her report and to respond formally to those recommendations by 31st May.

The attached appendix details the status of the Trust in respect of each of the recommendations.
